Homer Jr. grew up in Whitewright, TX. On June 28, 1942 he was born to Homer L. Phelps Sr. and Belzater (Spencer) Phelps, where he lived until moving to Sherman. Homer Jr. accepted Christ early in his life and continued to serve in his church and community in multiple ways. Homer graduated from Fred Douglas High School (60)' where he excelled academically and was a superior athlete in Football, Tennis and many other sports. Homer attended Paul Quinn College and Grayson College.

Homer is the loving husband of fifty-three years of Carolyn F. (Milam) Phelps and he has one daughter and three sons.

Homer Jr. was a proud member of the United States Marine Corps and completed his service with honors. He established his career at Johnson and Johnson Medical Device Company for thirty–seven years, where he enjoyed his work and life with his co-workers.

Homer Jr. was dedicated to the young adults in the Sher-den communities and wanted to see them reach their fullest potential. He mentored students in his service through scouting and golfing.

Homer was very dedicated to God, his family and his friends. He gave his very best to all he encountered. Homer died peacefully in his home surrounded by wife Carolyn Phelps, Camille (Phelps) Wilson and many loving family members and friends.
